

Wikipedia Microsite Assignment

Creative Director: Leon Zhao

Designer: Garrett Ramsey

I love the design choices you made for the initial build, especially the navigation bar design! The font you used for title and the text looks great. I would like to keep them in the final version. The landing page looks nice with the image background. I appreciate the semi-transparent white background for the text to make it readable.

I would consider adding some images to the other sections to see what layout works best. I like the current color palette. Maybe you could try adding some decorative elements to echo the design on the navigation bar.

Overall nice job! Feel free to keep moving forward with what you have!